made her electoral debut from Parli Assembly seat and won. In 2014, she was made the cabinet minister with two important portfolios — rural development and women and child welfare. His late father Bhausaheb Phundkar, who was close to late Gopinath Munde, was the founder member of the BJP. After joining hands with Ajit Pawar's NCP, an ally of the BJP, the allegations receded. Mushrif's tenure in the previous government was also marred with controversy, after a company linked to him was allegedly given labour contracts.

DHANANJAY MUNDE, 49
Constituency: Parli
Portfolio in previous govt: Agriculture

A staunch Ajit Pawar loyalist, Munde is known to have a cordial relationship with Chief Minister Devendra Fadnavis as well. Munde has been criticised for ineffective handling of the agriculture department in the previous government. However, his command over the electorate and close ties with Pawar and Fadnavis worked in his favour.

ADITI TATKARE, 36
Constituency: Shrivardhan
Dept in previous govt: Women and Child development

Tatkare was given the cabinet rank in the previous government despite being a first-time MLA.
